Introduction

The SIP is a planning tool designed to address student achievement and system needs identified through the school's comprehensive needs assessment (CNA). Additionally, the SIP provides a method for schools to address the school improvement planning requirements of Public Act 25 of the Revised School Code and the Elementary and Secondary Education Act (ESEA) as applicable.

Improvement Plan Assurance

Ypsilanti STEMM Middle College

Introduction

During the 2016-2017 school year, schools will have two options for Goals and Plans. 1. Update Goals and Plans, if necessary, based on analysis of data and Program Evaluation; 2. Complete and upload the Abbreviated Goals and Plans template into ASSIST, based on analysis of data and Program Evaluation.

Plan Description

Goals Summary

The following is a summary of the goals encompassed in this plan. The details for each goal are available in the next section.

#	Goal Name	Goal Details	Goal Type	Total Funding
1	Improve Mathematics Proficiency	Objectives: 1 Strategies: 4 Activities: 19	Academic	$815000
2	Improve Reading Proficiency	Objectives: 1 Strategies: 4 Activities: 17	Academic	$0
3	Improve School Culture and Climate	Objectives: 1 Strategies: 5 Activities: 11	Organizational	$200000

Ypsilanti STEMM Middle College

Goal 1: Improve Mathematics Proficiency

Measurable Objective 1:

A 3% increase of Ninth, Tenth and Eleventh grade students will demonstrate a proficiency reaching a college and career ready score of 530 on the SAT Math and/or reaching a proficiency performance increase equivalent to one full academic year on the NWEA district assessment in Mathematics by 06/29/2018 as measured by the SAT and NWEA RIT scores.

Strategy 1:

Data Management and Use - All students performing below grade level who meet Title I / 31 A eligibility and/or students who are identified for intervention based on standardized test scores will receive differentiated supplemental instruction provided by the classroom teachers and special education staff or Title I/31a staff . Supplemental support will be outcome-specific predicated on the students' needs and provided by Title I staff and/or the Instructional Advocate, or the special education staff in cooperation with the classroom teacher. Building level data teams will monitor the progress made by all students receiving supplemental support. All supplemental programs will be evaluated for efficacy using the MDE suggested program evaluation tool.

Data Team Meetings to Improve 9th Grade Performance - Instructional and support staff along with building and district administrators and counselors will meet regularly to review updated achievement data collected by middle school teams (NWEA, state standardized assessments, etc). to collaborate around the effective placement of students into mathematics courses specifically for at risk students not demonstrating unit concept mastery. Professional development on numeracy has been and will continue to be provided over the summer to support students in remedial courses. These assessments will be created collaboratively by a team of instructional staff responsible for the same course. The assessments will be developed across to ensure continuity of instructional targets across and within SLCs, and within a school to better address the specific learning challenges of that school (as evidenced by performance assessments). Ypsilanti STEMM Middle College

Grade level and content level instructional staff will collaboratively create formative assessments, which are ongoing, repetitive measures designed to provide information to both the teacher and students concerning the students' understanding of small segments of course material (or instructional unit). As an integrated approach to assessment and instruction, formative assessments, emphasize mastery of course material (outcomes) as opposed to evaluation of performance or assignment of grades. Formative assessments are administered throughout the instructional process to monitor student progress and provide feedback on strengths and weaknesses. The key to formative assessments is the role of feedback; this feedback allows students to correct conceptual errors and encourages instructors to modify instructional activities to inform effective lesson design/instruction practice. Formative assessments are designed to guide learning and are not typically used as an outcome measure, they are generally considered a low stakes assessment. Formative assessment can be developed by small or larger groups of teachers as a collaborative agreement amongst colleagues focused on improving aspects of instruction and student learning. Key building teacher leaders will participate in the WISD Assessment Literacy training teams and become leaders in the transition to more informative assessment writing. Teachers will receive stipends for participating in after-school and Saturday formative assessment training sessions. Strategy 2:

Professional Development/Training - The professional staff and administrators will participate in professional development in order to improve their ability to effectively teach mathematics to at risk groups defined by current achievement scores and other sub groups (i.e., African-American, Hispanic, Economically Disadvantaged, English Language Learners, Students with Disabilities, Students qualified as homeless, etc.). Staff and administrators will reflect professional development training in school routines/ organizational practices, instructional framework, assessment protocol, climate/ culture, and professional evaluation practices at each school. Staff and administrators will monitor that professional development training is in fact embedded in the school's culture resulting in increased student achievement for each disaggregated groups.

Strategy 1:

Disciplinary Literacy - According to the Institute for Learning at the University of Pittsburg, students need to develop along two dimensions to become literate in a content area or discipline. First, they most develop growth in knowledge of core concepts, big ideas, and driving questions in a discipline. Simultaneously, students must also develop growth in the habits of mind in a discipline. They must develop ways of investigating, reasoning, reading, writing, talking, and problem-solving in a discipline. Students develop disciplinary literacy by the simultaneous growth that takes place during this process. In our building, all content areas will create an environment that fosters disciplinary literacy.

All content area teachers will participate in RA (Reading Apprenticeship) training and embed these "literacy" practices in their daily instruction. RA trained teachers systematically integrate "literacy" strategies into content area instruction. For example, the practice of close reading enables students to read repeatedly for a level of detail not used in everyday reading. Close reading develops the habits of readers as they engage in the complexity of the text discipline to build their stamina and skill toward independent reading. Close reading is accompanied by purposeful, scaffolded instruction and is guided by the discussion of text-dependent questions. Students continue to refine their reading skills while learning mathematics, science, social studies and other elective applications. Teachers "teach" students how to read textbook and other informational text using effective expository strategies. Teachers "teach" students how to write persuasively and appropriately in response to a variety of narrative and non-narrative purposes. Performance Management - Performance Management

As the district begins to move forward at a rapid pace, it is important that everyone within the organization have a specific process for facilitating effective data conversations that establishes a spirit of inquiry and positions the analysis of multiple measures of data at the heart of the exploration and action plan development. The Problem-Solving Driver System is the first of three district drivers systems that will support rapid improvement in student and teacher performance in a short amount of time. The Performance Management tool is utilized in this Driver System.

Strategy 3:

Instructional Infrastructure - The Instructional Infrastructure is the second district system that the District Turnaround Network (DTN) begins to develop. The first phase of the development of this system involved describing and communicating explicit high quality subject-specific instructional practices for all core content areas. This was done in 2016-17 and the visions were adopted by the DTN. The district will measure the extent to which the current classroom instruction across the entire district is aligned to the visions. We will strengthen the implementation of high quality instruction as measured by increased student achievement. The high school building will focus on the following high quality instructional models: Ambitious Teaching, SIOP instruction for ELL students, Disciplinary Literacy, MTSS, Reading Apprenticeship, Assessment Literacy, and Growth Mindset.

Develop and utilize a Multiple Tiered System of Supports (MTSS) to meet the academic needs of students and to coordinate general and special education programming. In our building, this will include Differentiation to Supplement Learning - Instructional staff will differentiate instruction with varied, research-based instructional strategies following analysis of NWEA and M-Step assessment results to improve reading proficiency of all students, including students with disabilities, as evidenced by targeted, tiered interventions. Also, Informational Reading Instruction - Instructional staff will utilize explicit instructional strategies to improve student comprehension of informational text through training, PLC classroom experiences and other professional development. This will be monitored by classroom observations and improvement in student achievement on informational reading assessments. Cultural Proficiency in education is the level of knowledge-based skills and understanding that are required to successfully teach and interact with students and to work effectively with colleagues from a variety of cultures by holding all forms of cultural difference in high esteem; a continuing self-assessment of one's values, beliefs and biases grounded in cultural humility; an ongoing vigilance toward the dynamics of diversity, difference and power; and the expansion of knowledge of cultural practices that recognize cultural bridges as going both ways. Culturally responsive reading instruction bridges the gap between the school and the world of the student. The Specialists, one pre grade level, will provide students with the learning experiences students need to prepare for continuing education ranging from general college awareness and career exploration to applying for college/trade school/certification program, enlisting into the military, securing college funding, and scholarship applications. In addition, this position will provide data-driven, differentiated, explicit and systematic instruction to students with priority given to those performing significantly below grade level that includes working with community members, parents/guardians, teachers, and other stakeholders. Strategy 4:

Assessment Literacy - Assessment literacy is the set of beliefs, knowledge and practices about assessment that lead a teacher, administrator, policymaker or student to use assessment to improve student learning and achievement. Professional development will assist teachers in furthering their knowledge in the basic principles of sound assessment practice, including its terminology, the development and us of assessment methodologies and techniques, and familiarity with standards of quality assessment in the context of our SLC, building, and district. Teachers will gain immediately applicable skills and strategies in the creation and evaluation of quality assessments. Our building will focus on grading tools and Growth Mindset to facilitate assessment literacy.

Goal 3: Improve School Culture and Climate

achieve college and career readiness demonstrating behaviors that will decrease the number of suspensions by 3% and increase student attendance by 2% or maintain, until the goal of 95% daily attendance rate. by 06/29/2018 as measured by attendance data, discipline data, climate surveys, other perception data...

Strategy 1:

Restorative Practices - Restorative practices are based on 5 guiding principles: 1) High Expectations for ALL learners 2) Evidence-based "best" practices while allowing for innovations and creativity 3) Family and community partnerships 4) Student voice and empowerment 5) Efficiency and financial viability. We believes that developing character and social-emotional skills are as important as academic achievement. Character education creates and supports a safe and healthy learning environment that promotes positive self-advocacy and citizenship, while building a kind, caring and just community. Restorative Practices provide an underpinning ethos and philosophy for building, maintaining, and repairing relationships and for fostering a sense of social responsibility and shared accountability. Restorative practices promotes inclusiveness, relationship-building, and problem solving through such methods as circles for teaching and conflict resolution to conferences that bring victims, offenders and their supporters together to address wrongdoing. Instead of punishment, students are encouraged to reflect on and take responsibility for their actions and come up with plans to repair them. ALL staff will be trained in this framework and use of strategies. ALL volunteers and support agencies will also be trained in these strategies to include security and truancy personnel.

Restorative Justice is a framework that focuses on students "making amends and repairing" damage done rather than traditional disciplinary responses such as suspension and isolation. Staff will be trained and participate in the use of restorative circles in the classroom and buildings. Students will also engage in restorative sessions in the Restorative "Grizzly" Center. Strategy 2:

Small Learning Communities (SLC's) - Small Learning Communities emphasize small structure and curricular specialization as well as focus on the learner and learning and in particular, the active and collaborative nature of students' and teachers' work. In a small learning community, interdisciplinary teams of teachers assume responsibility for student educational progress across years of school and maximize flexibility to act on the knowledge of students' needs. Successful SLC's reflect the following attributes: 1) self determination 2) identity 3) personalization 4) support for teaching 5) functional accountability. These attributes embrace the 5 Guiding Principles upon which the newly consolidated and redesigned district is built. These attributes (and the associated guiding principles) will result in improved school-student-family connection and result in enhanced teaching /learning.

Alternative Education Support - Slots will be protected for secondary students who would benefit from an intensive, smaller learning unit characterized by interdisciplinary instruction, personalized goal setting and wrap around counseling and social work support. Other students may participate in a continuum of alternative education supports. Students may or may not also be eligible for special education services. The alternative education program will prioritize problem solving, peer relationships, personal responsibility and focused project based learning. Instructional and support staff will be trained in nationally recognized programs such as PQA and ICT processes.

Intense Student Support Network - Intense Student Support - Ypsilanti Community Schools believe that every student has the right to a safe, supportive school in which we respect each student's values, beliefs, individual backgrounds, and identity. We believe that every student has the right to an equitable educational experience and that it is the district's responsibility to provide a system of delivery from which each student has the potential for high levels of success. We believe that each student reaches his/her potential as result of an equitable but not equal system of delivery, i.e., a system that responds to the unique and individual academic and non-academic needs of each student within its charge.

As a result of these beliefs, the district embraces the opportunity to engage with every student to maximize both his/her academic and social learning. The student support network establishes a delivery system that responds to the unique and individual academic and non-academic needs of each student.

The district recognizes that the key person in the learning equation is the student (Murphy, 2014) and further recognizes that it is critical to develop a meaningful, positive relationship with each student in order to exercise academic press and influence. Using Joseph Murphy's work with pastoral care as a guide, the district's Intense Student Support Network ensures that the norms of pastoral care positively impact every student for whom we as a district have the privilege of serving. Those norms and identifying characteristics are:

Trama Informed Teaching - "The aim of a trauma-informed classroom is to infuse an understanding of the impact of trauma and adverse life experiences on students into the classroom culture and promote a physically and psychologically safe environment to foster student growth. More specifically, psychological safety refers to individuals' inner sense that they are safe because of their ability to feel capable of managing stressors or connecting with someone else who can help the individual manage stressors that make her feel unsafe" (Pickens 2). From an organizational perspective, implementing a trauma-informed approach, "realizes the widespread impact of trauma and understands potential paths for recovery; recognizes the signs and symptoms of trauma in [individuals] involved in the system; responds by integrating knowledge about trauma into policies, procedures, and practices; and seeks to actively resist re-traumatization" (Substance Abuse Mental Health Services Administration [SAMHSA], 2016).

Cultural Competency/Cultural Relevancy	It is imperative that the teachers (used inclusively) and teaching methodology (pedagogy and instructional strategies) and the materials used (written and referenced) meet the unique needs of this school community. Culturally competent teachers and support staff will engage in professional development training regarding research and best-practices that will provide a critical understanding and knowledge of skills/ experiences and affirming attitude necessary for those teaching in a culturally and economically diverse community. A culturally relevant and competent instructional experience will increase relevancy and opportunities for engagement for students resulting in improvement academic proficiency. Reading Apprenticeship	All content area teachers will participate in RA (Reading Apprenticeship) training and embed these "literacy" practices in their daily instruction. RA trained teachers systematically integrate "literacy" strategies into content area instruction. For example, the practice of close reading enables students to read repeatedly for a level of detail not used in everyday reading. Close reading develops the habits of readers as they engage in the complexity of the text discipline to build their stamina and skill toward independent reading. Close reading is accompanied by purposeful, scaffolded instruction and is guided by the discussion of text-dependent questions. Students continue to refine their reading skills while learning mathematics, science, social studies and other elective applications. Teachers "teach" students how to read textbook and other informational text using effective expository strategies. Teachers "teach" students how to write persuasively and appropriately in response to a variety of narrative and non-narrative purposes. Formative Assessments	Grade level and content level instructional staff will collaboratively create formative assessments, which are ongoing, repetitive measures designed to provide information to both the teacher and students concerning the students' understanding of small segments of course material (or instructional unit). As an integrated approach to assessment and instruction, formative assessments, emphasize mastery of course material (outcomes) as opposed to evaluation of performance or assignment of grades. Formative assessments are administered throughout the instructional process to monitor student progress and provide feedback on strengths and weaknesses. The key to formative assessments is the role of feedback; this feedback allows students to correct conceptual errors and encourages instructors to modify instructional activities to inform effective lesson design/ instruction practice. Formative assessments are designed to guide learning and are not typically used as an outcome measure, they are generally considered a low stakes assessment. Formative assessment are very often reflective of mastery teaching. Formative assessment can be developed by small or larger groups of teachers as a collaborative agreement amongst colleagues focused on improving aspects of instruction and student learning. Key building teacher leaders will participate in the WISD Assessment Literacy training teams and become leaders in the transition to more informative assessment writing.
